1. Claim 25 provides for the use of polyisocyanate compositions, but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claim 25 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-5, 7-14 and 19-23 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Laas (5,750,629).

Laas (629) discloses a polyisocyanate composition comprising 19.4 wt. % uretdione, 28.7 wt. % isocyanurate, 51.9 wt. % higher oligomers and undetectable amounts of monomer or impurity, and no solvent (col. 6, lines 53-57). The functionality would be the same because the composition is the same, and the weight percent of the c(ii) component would be low because this component would have the same tendency to form in the reaction of Laas as in the invention. He shows the same process for making the composition in the presence of trialkyl phosphine catalyst, and the dimerization and trimerization steps are simultaneous (see col. 6, example 1).

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1, 15-18, 24 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Laas (5,143,994).

6. Laas(994) discloses the composition of the claims (claim one) in which the amounts of uretdion, isocyanurate and higher homologs overlap. He teaches using this composition as a component for coatings (col. 2) and he discloses blocking the isocyanate groups (col. 3, line 49). He differs from the claims by not specifying the blocking agents.

7. Saunders discloses well known blocking agents, such as phenol and pyrazolone.

8. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made for Laas to use the same amounts of dimers, trimers and higher oligomers because his amounts overlap with the claims. It would have been obvious to use the blocking agents of the claims because Saunders shows them as well known in the art.
